

Music Dealer Insurance Plan

Music dealers are an essential part of the larger music industry, providing the community with a space to purchase music equipment and accessories, as well as buy and repair instruments. They often work directly with local musicians, schools, and other institutions as partners for their programs, ensuring their ability to readily perform with minimal downtime. With your dealership providing the constant flow of music within your community, shouldn't you ensure your important investment is adequately insured?

Why Choose A Music Dealer Insurance Plan?

A music dealer insurance plan is a comprehensive policy designed to protect you and your business, as well as your commercial interests. With an extensive array of expensive equipment, plus any additional instruments or equipment you may service, it's important to ensure your assets are properly protected.

Our plan protects everything in your inventory, from the musical instruments and sheet music to your tools, equipment, and machinery. This policy not only insures your dealership against theft, loss, and damage to inventory on-site but also extends coverage to inventory in storage as well. Downtime can be devastating, both for your bottom line and for the potential ramifications it may have on the arts in your community. We rapidly process your claims to ensure you can get back to providing instruments and repairs, allowing the music to continue to flow.
