Why Take Defensive Driving

There are a few reasons why someone may want to take a defensive driving course. Most commonly, a person is trying to avoid costly consequences that result from getting a ticket.

Some are trying to avoid losing their license by taking the course to remove points from their driving records. Others have been court-mandated to take them, while some may require it for specific employment opportunities.

No matter your reason, DriveSafeToday.com has a course for you.

Get Your Ticket Dismissed With Our Cape Coral Traffic School

We all make mistakes in life, but unfortunately, mistakes while driving can quickly get expensive. First, you have to pay the fine for your ticket, and then often, your insurance rates go up, which can add up over time—all of these expenses, caused by a single traffic infraction.

If you receive additional tickets, you will continue to rack up further expenses. After a certain amount of violations, you risk losing your license. The court may then require you to take a defensive driving course to retain your driving privileges. Before, this would mean having to make time in your already busy schedule to sit in a physical classroom.

That's where DriveSafeToday comes in. All of our courses are approved by the Florida Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles, meeting all state testing standards and requirements at affordable prices.

Qualify for an Insurance Discount With Cape Coral Traffic School

Is having a high insurance premium putting a dent in your monthly budget? Have you been searching for a way to lower your rate?

Taking a defensive driving course helps remove points from your driving record, ultimately lowering your insurance rates. Once these points are removed from your record, insurance companies are then required by state law to lower your insurance premiums.

You may have heard insurance company commercials advertising "Safe Driver Discounts," these courses are one of the ways you can qualify for that discount. So whether you have one driving violation, or ten, there are tangible benefits to taking the course.

Cape Coral Traffic School Courses Overview

The first step toward accident prevention is safe driving. No matter how great of a driver you may be, there is always the chance something out of your control happens. Aggressive drivers, extreme weather, car problems, and obstacles can all cause an accident.

Taking a defensive driving course shows you how to be better equipped to handle these situations. If you know what you are doing, and are better equipped to pay attention to other drivers, you are much less likely to have an accident.

Basic Driver Improvement Course (BDI)

The Basic Driver Improvement Course will teach you several essential things to know on the road. You will learn to scan the roadway and adapt to surrounding traffic, employ the two-second rule, learn how to understand how your vehicle stops, and how to respond to environmental hazards and vehicular emergencies appropriately.

You can log in and out of the 4-hour program at your leisure. No matter where you stop, the course will pick up where you left off when you log back in. This allows you to complete the course on your own schedule. You can also retake the final exam as often as necessary until you complete it with the 80% score required.

Once you have completed the course, you will immediately be able to download your certificate of completion to save or print for your records. We will notify the Florida DHSMV for you, so you are only responsible for notifying the county court if required. Individuals can retake the course every twelve months to maintain insurance discounts, if applicable.

Traffic Law and Substance Abuse Education (TLSAE)

The TLSAE course is an essential requirement in obtaining your Florida state learner's permit. In this course, you will learn how drugs and alcohol affect the driver - as well as laws, safe driving techniques, and how to increase your awareness on roadways to better watch for impaired drivers.

You are free to finish the 4-hour program whenever you want, as the course will pick up wherever you left off when you log back in. You will need a minimum score of 80% to pass the exam, although you are able to retake the final exam as many times as needed at no additional cost. Upon completion, you will immediately have access to your certificate of completion to download or print, and we will notify the Florida DHSMV on your behalf.

Intermediate Driver Development is an 8-hour advanced traffic school course. Generally, you take this course if you have been court-ordered to do so. However, it can be taken voluntarily as well.

You can log in and out of the 8-hour program at your convenience. No matter where you stop, the course will pick up right where you left off. Feel free to take the exam as many times as necessary until you earn the required 80%.

Florida Driving Records

DriveSafeToday.com is also a DHSMV authorized provider of official driving records. Our driving records are obtained from the same database used by law enforcement and insurance agencies. Driving records include points, restrictions, violations, suspensions, and traffic accidents. We offer options to receive your 3-year records, 7-year records, or even a complete 11-year driving record.

These records may be submitted to law enforcement offices, insurance agencies, and employers. In order to access traffic school completion records, you will need your complete 11-year record. While our records are accurate, it is important to note that disclosed documents will not include names or addresses to comply with Florida state law.
