

How to Get Free Robux

For those outside of the gaming world, Roblox is an online game platform and system for game creation. Roblox users are able to program games or play games created by millions of other platform users. There are tons of user-created games in diverse genres, coded in the programming language Lua. Players use Robux, the in-game currency, to buy upgrades within the game as well as accessories for avatars.

Roblox is entirely free to play, but everyone wants the extras like skins, accessories, costumes, and other add on items that can be purchased in-game. Robux start at $4.99 for 400 Robux, and it goes up from there. And therein lies the danger. Even Roblox's own website warns about how quickly Robux purchases can add up. The risk of blowing more hard-earned cash than you intended is very real.

Message boards and other corners of the internet have been abuzz about ways to earn free Robux. But anyone perusing the net hoping to find a secret is opening themselves up to any number of scams. Don't fall for it: all websites offering free Robux are a scam and will end in you being hacked or wind up with a nasty computer virus. It should go without saying at this point that you should never give your credentials to third-party websites.

And when it comes to Robux, there are no legitimate free currency generators. It can not be stated clearly enough or enough times, outside of Roblox, you can't get any Robux. Anyone who tells you otherwise, at one point, likely had a bridge to sell you as well.

It's also important to remember that Roblox keeps track of players trying to game the system. If you get caught, you can face a permanent ban from the platform. The best way to operate is the honest way: earning and purchasing Robux within the Roblox platform.

There are two primary ways to earn virtual currency. Either help promote the game or somehow enhance the platform for all players. The more creative and entrepreneurial you are, the more chances you'll have to earn.

You could end up with a serious advantage in how quickly you can earn Robux in comparison to other players. Roblox is a prime training ground for anyone with interest in graphic or game design. Good skills in promotion and marketing can give you an edge too!

If you have the right skill set to capitalize on the different options to earn Robux in-game, you will be Robux rich in no time, and without jeopardizing your account or your computer! So, here are the best ways to safely earn Robux, in-game, drama-free, without breaking any rules.

Roblox Affiliate Program

To reward players who promote Roblox games, they have created the Roblox Affiliate Program. Roblox knows the best endorsement comes from their own players, which is why they have incentivized word-of-mouth promotion to encourage you to promote them.

The Roblox Affiliate program rewards players who share links that bring new users to the site. It also rewards developers who have pages that new users land on first. The easiest way to become a promoter and earn these rewards is by sharing links to a Game page or to a Catalog or Library item.

You can simply go to the page or item you want to share and click on the appropriate social media button; this will take you to your associated social media account so you can share the link. Make sure you share through the Roblox share button, for just copy and pasting the share will not give you credit. Roblox tracks the referrals by a special code generated when you use the share button, and this is how you receive credit for the new user.

If you already have a popular social media account (or even better, accounts), this may be a perfect option for you! You can share on Facebook, Twitter, or Google+. If any of your friends or followers, click your link, then you get the credit! When a new user comes to the site through your link, and they sign up for a Roblox account, Roblox will match five percent of their purchases, and that five percent goes to you!

For example, if someone has an account associated with one of your links and they buy 100 Robux, then you will receive five Robux. This will remain true for as long as the user you referred keeps their account. If they end up spending a lot of money or being a long-time user, then this will really pay off and enhance your game!

This program works the same for developers. If a new user visits a game page first, the developer of that page gets the same five percent match of the new user's purchases that a player who shared a link will get. Just like a link share, the developer will receive this match for the duration of the life of the new account.

The promotions tab on your money page tracks how your link sharing is going. You can track how many new players click on your links, how many create new accounts, and how much you have made from all of these interactions. Developers can track these same statistics from their developer's stat page for their game.

Roblox wants users to promote their own games. Like a commission, you simultaneously earn five percent for sharing a link and five percent for a new player landing on your game page first. This gives game developers the opportunity to earn a total of ten percent in matching funds from new users!

Join Roblox Premium

Yes, it will cost actual money to join Roblox premium, but it will give you a lot of free Robux! The premium upgrade offers an allotment of Robux every month, plus a ten percent discount if you choose to buy more. A membership will also give you special access to features like buying, selling, and trading within the game. Developers get a larger share of the revenue from your in-game sales.

As a member, you can create and sell clothes to make Robux. Anyone can make clothes for their own personal use, but only members are allowed to sell them. Designing and selling clothes on Roblox is simple, with a wikiHow article that can get newbies started easily.

T-shirts are the easiest to create. They are just an image that goes on the front of an avatar. All you have to do to create one is upload an image to Roblox. The shirts and pants are a little harder because they wrap around the avatar. This is a more complicated process, but it gives users a chance to flex their creative muscle. To make the shirts and pants, you can use the templates in the wiki article and then upload those to Roblox.

All you have to do to upload is go to the create section and then click on the type of clothes that you want to create: shirts, pants, or T-shirts. Use the choose file option to upload your template, give it a name, and click upload. As soon as the item is approved by Roblox, you will be able to sell it (or wear it yourself if you want). To sell the item, again select create and select the type of item (pants, shirts, or T-shirts). Click on the gear next to the item, choose configure, and then sales. You will need to enter the amount that you want to sell the item for, then all you have to do is select save, and you have put your item on sale! The minimum price you can sell a T-shirt for is two Robux, shirts and pants are five. Your Robux from any sales will be held in a pending status for seven days after the sale.

Sell Roblox Game Passes

Game passes give players special privileges and powers in-game. They could be anything from superpowers to a special decorative item. It's free to create a game pass, and from there, one just has to determine how much Robux it's worth. Just like selling clothes, your Robux from any sales will be held in a pending status for seven days after the sale.

Game passes are usually the best way to make the most Robux the quickest for most players. They can be especially lucrative, turning you into a Robux tycoon practically overnight. Roblox support has several pages dedicated to helping to walk you through the process of creating and selling game passes.

Conclusion

Making Robux within the Roblox platform is fun and easy. Since every website claiming to offer free Robux is a scam, it's both more rewarding and safer to earn them honestly. Really, it is just another aspect of the game. Learn to make earning Robux part of your play and stay safe from scams and viruses at the same time.