We are here for you...

With so much emphasis placed on the external, we bring the focus back to being excited about discovering what's inside.

Handmade by real people using upcycled materials that some consider waste, we satisfy our desire for uniqueness while simultaneously taking care of our planet. Our oceans, our mountains, and our deserts give us balance and peace of mind, so we are adamant about showing our gratitude and treating each accordingly.

Deeply rooted in a passion for individuality, Free Trading Company was founded on one principle: Challenging acceptance.

In a world whose belief system supports success through conformity, we want to nurture the individual's freedom of choice and expression by boiling your inner being to the surface.

Live free. It's your choice. It's your life.
