BOBBI BROWN SPARKLE
EYE SHADOW IN SILVER
MOON SPARKLE, $64

We're not ones to turn our back on a statement eye or a ruby pout, but the two visionary Bobbi Brown makeup artists behind our runway beauty took a more pared-back tack. With "radiant skin that looks multi-dimensional and glows" in her sights, Bex Elliott (below, centre) created a sweet spring look anchored by a pink pout, while Ashley Sattler went for "natural and luminous", sticking to the mantra less is more. Both advise timeless bridal looks like these. Says Bex, "Your wedding photos will be around a lot longer than the latest fad."

FRESSES TO IMPRESSES

A life well lived has GLORIOUS ups and downs, and the same is true of Joico's take on WEDDING-DAY dos

If there's one thing to remember when choosing your wedding-day hairstyle, it's this: to thine own self be true. This year's approach isn't about ironing curls into submission or crimping straight strands – the focus is on enhancing what you've got. For the runway, Joico hair director Leisa Welch (above, far right) coaxed models' locks into two beguiling styles – one an updo that owes much to the artfully undone glamour of Brigitte Bardot, and the counterpoint: carefree curls with a strong side part that entice with their natural movement, softly brushing shoulders and décolletage. W
