Not Long Now

Whilst we look forward to reopening our cinemas next month, allow us to virtually transport you to our glorious Southampton-based cinema, the Harbour Lights Picturehouse.

This landmark building opened its doors in February 1995, designed by architects Burrell Foley Fischer. The design celebrates the heritage of Southampton docks, its famous Ocean Terminal and the heyday of glamorous travel by luxury liner.

Recipient of a Civic Trust Commendation in 1997 and shortlisted for a RIBA award for architecture, the cinema itself was voted Britain's Best-Loved Independent Cinema in 2000 by the readers of Empire Magazine, the first and only time they awarded such a title.

Take a closer look at Harbour Lights Picturehouse with Inside Picturehouse, filmed on location at the iconic cinema in March 2018.
