The charity

Founded in September 2011, 40tude's focus on colon cancer has raised over £1.4 million so far to fund pioneering research at St. Mark's Hospital in Harrow, the national bowel hospital.

The charity builds innovative partnerships with a remarkable group of participants, sponsors, donors and medical specialists, raising funds to support cutting-edge research that will help transform the treatment of colon cancer and save lives. They also aim to raise awareness of the benefits of proper screening for colon cancer, so that more people are screened from their mid-40s.
