Your sparkling star in the corner of Cults - an update...

Well, here we are...
Who'd have guessed it'd come to this?

If you've braved the storm to pop into the shop this week, thank you.
It means A LOT.

But with the big retailers closing their doors, our lovely Cults village changing daily and me having to make the difficult, heart-breaking decision to let my girls go, I've decided my final trading day (for now) was this Saturday, 21st March.

You've all helped me build up a beautiful shop over the last few years but, for now, it's time for this busy bee to hibernate and look after her hive.

You'll be first to know when I'm back up and buzzing, ready to help you find the perfect poncho or a gorgeous gift for grandma.

And The Unique Boutique will still be more than 'just a shop.'
It's your hub, your oasis and your escape.

I can't wait to open my doors to you again and fill my shop with much laughter and warm sun. In the meantime, please be safe and mindful.

Sonya and the girls
Xx

You can still get your Sonya fix...

Whilst we find our way on this new and challenging hamster wheel of life, you can still get a Sonya fix on Facebook to brighten up your day. I'll be posting regularly to keep us connected.

If you don't already, please follow me @sonyaangusshop.
And do let me know what you'd like to see.
