TO A ROCK STAR, IMAGE IS EVERYTHING

At Rockstar Puppy, it's our job to help dogs rise above the common throng of assorted posers, wannabes, and out-and-out hand-lickers who are, ultimately, all bark and very little bite!

Rockstar Puppy's custom dog houses let dogs live in style, and are a glamorous addition to their human's homes, too.

Jessica Clark is no one-hit wonder, she began her endeavor in "all things canine" in 2009 after meeting celebrity TV star, JWovw, at an MTV Movie Awards gift suite. She designed and built a dog house for JWovw's pack of pups and the lightbulb, or should we say stage lights, went on.

Her experience sparked an idea to take things to a whole new level. Inspired by her own Chinese Crested dog, Rockstar, Jessica started a part-time business peddling accessory doggie swag to those who love to pamper their pooches. Today, Rockstar Puppy is number one on the charts as the leading specialized online pet boutique.

BARBRA STREISAND'S CUSTOM DOG HOUSE

The Brooklyn Brownstone doghouse of global superstar Barbra Streisand is a Rockstar Puppy original. The Rockstar Puppy team designed and built this beauty with great care to ensure its authenticity. The house reflects a carefully constructed replica with the dog door entrance on the side and Streisand's favorite number, #24, on the front. The house includes real, kiln fired-brick, custom moldings, and an EPDM rubber roof. If there were Grammy's awarded for doghouses, this one would win in every category.

PETRA ECCLESTONE'S CUSTOM DOG HOUSE

Formula One Racing heiress Petra Ecclestone, has custom-built doghouse replicas of the Spelling Manor. Rockstar Puppy used a piece of limestone from the actual mansion to match the mini-mansion versions of the sprawling manor.

The design features a synthetic slate roof, bulletproof windows, and a heating/air conditioning unit with specialty wiring that allows the lights and temperature to be controlled with an iPad. Rockstar Puppy built two of these designs for Ecclestone, one boy-themed and one girl-themed.

HARRY CONNICK Jr.

DOGHOUSE

Harry Connick Jr. needed a home for his newly adopted rescue dog after losing his beloved pooch, Sammy. His new dog, Tuka, was rescued by Harry during the aftermath of Hurricane Maria in Puerto Rico. Rockstar Puppy took a bold and beautiful step and created a concept design for Tuka's new doghouse, appropriately made in the shape of, what else, a piano! Granted, Tuka hasn't seen this house...yet! But when the Grammy, Emmy, and Tony-nominated rock star of life sees this, we're confident he'll love the idea of his little survivor rockin' the rest of her days in this luxurious retreat. Rock on, Tuka!

JWOWW'S CUSTOM DOG HOUSE

MTV star and well-known dog lover, JWoww, met Jessica at an MTV event and asked her to design and build a custom house for her two treasured dogs. The Rock Star Puppy team created a gingerbread-style house for the cherished bowwow's of JWoww, Bella and Noel.

The house features a custom pop art print of the dynamic duo its adored residents, lined with moire fabric drapes with jeweled tie backs, a heart-shaped stained-glass window, battery operated interior lighting, an upholstered bed with a plush pillow insert and faux fur throw, a custom Swarovski Crystal nameplate, hinged doors that open like a dollhouse, a shake roof, and hand-painted feet with gold leaf paint.

HOW WE BECAME ROCKSTARS

“Hey Ray, Hey Sugar, tell them who we are...” Those are the opening lyrics that Dr. Hook & The Medicine Show made famous with their infamous hit song, “The Cover Of The Rolling Stone.” Of course, they were big rock singers who had golden fingers and we’re loved everywhere they’d go. At Rockstar Puppy, it’s kind of the same way. The “lead singer” is Jessica Clark, and she probably wouldn’t turn down the opportunity to be on the cover of Rolling Stone magazine, either.

Jessica is no one-hit wonder, she began her endeavor in “all things canine” in 2009 after meeting celebrity TV star, JWoww, at an MTV Movie Awards gift suite. She designed and built a dog house for JWoww’s pack of pups and the lightbulb, or should we say stage lights, went on. Her experience sparked an idea to take things to a whole new level. Inspired by her own Chinese Crested dog, Rockstar, Jessica started a part-time business peddling accessory doggie swag to those who love to pamper their pooches. Today, Rockstar Puppy is number one on the charts as the leading specialized online pet boutique.

After tapping into all of her creative talents to build JWoww’s doghouse, other celebrity requests began to follow. Jessica and Rockstar Puppy created and constructed Barbra Streisand’s dog’s house; appropriately a replica of a Brooklyn Brownstone. Formula One heiress, Petra Ecclestone, commissioned two new glam limestone homes for her dogs. Other celebrity clients include 2 Chainz and Jimmy Fallon. Jessica has also designed a special doghouse for Tuka, Harry Connick Jr.’s rescued pup, but neither of them knows about it quite yet! Puppy Rockstar is the go-to destination for celebrities as well as real rock stars and rock stars from all walks of life who love their dogs.

Jessica holds a Bachelor’s Degree in Business Administration Marketing Management from SUNY Fredonia. She has collaborated with Lauren Makk in conceptualizing and constructing of several private label doghouses. Lauren is an award-winning Interior Designer, and former TV Host and designer for TLC’s Emmy Award winning Trading Spaces. She has also been a designer on A&E’s Drill Team, Hotel Impossible, and was the Interior Design expert and co-host for ABC’s FAB Life. Currently, Lauren is a designer on Home Made Simple for The Oprah Winfrey Network.

The Rockstar Puppy “backstage” is located in Jessica’s home in the mountains of Pennsylvania. From there, Jessica and her Rockstar team offer dog lovers who want the best of the best for their pups to every corner of the world. Rock Star Puppy clientele are a mix of canine lovers whose biggest fans are their dogs and appreciate stylish, snazzy, and trendy designer brands.

Jessica and the Rockstar Puppy team are always on tour and no matter what your needs or desires are to make your dog feel like a rock star, they’ve got a backstage pass just waiting for you! If you can imagine it, they can build it. Maybe it’s your idea that will be featured right along with Jessica and Rockstar Puppy when they actually do get their picture on “the cover of the Rolling Stone.”

Jimmy Fallon Dog Dish

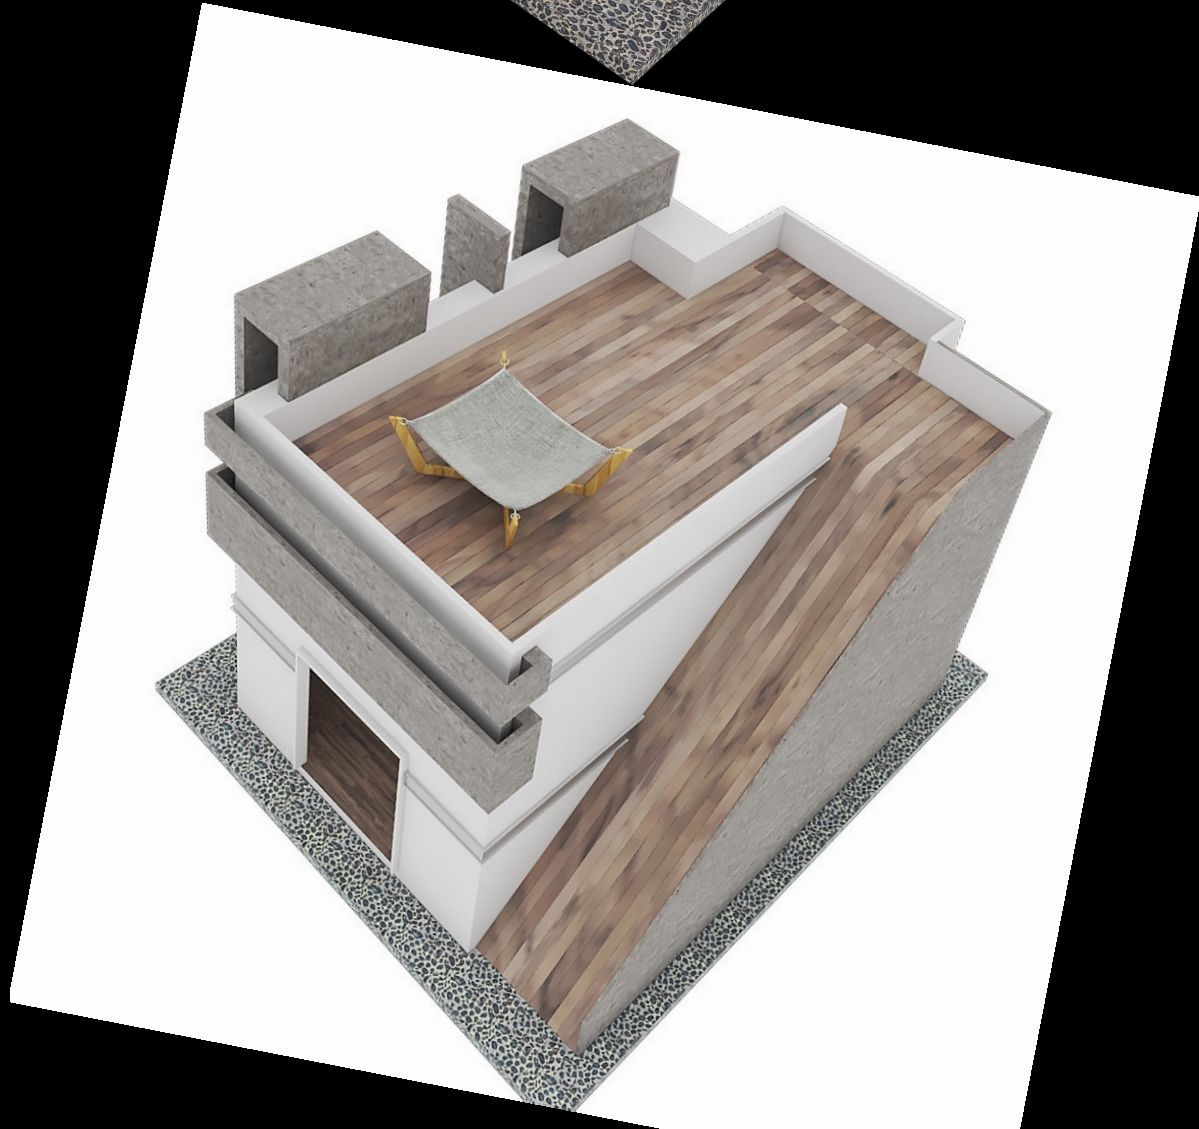

Gary Frick travels a lot, and often with the owner who adores him, Jimmy Fallon. Rockstar Puppy designed this one-of-a-kind dog dish with collapsible legs and laser-etched images of the two celebrities.

Gary first met Fallon on the set of The Tonight Show. The pooch-pundit puppy dressed in a suit "debated" Fallon in a sketch. As luck would have it, Gary (who turned out to be a girl) was available for adoption. Fallon brought Gary home and the family couldn't love her more! And, we hear Gary loves her Rockstar Puppy dog dish, too!
