Women experience heart disease differently than men.

Did you know cold sweats, unusual tiredness, anxiety and loss of appetite may not have anything to do with your hormones or getting older? These may be signs of heart disease, the leading cause of death for women.

A doctor with

Board-certified in Cardiology and Echocardiography, Dr. Monica Gressianu is an expert in providing female-focused heart care. Dr. Gressianu explains “Our body shapes, our physiology, our hormones—all of these are factors in how we experience atypical heart symptoms. We respond differently to many therapies and during menopause, our entire body and physiology changes. Our risk of heart disease rises. And, unfortunately, at a time when they need it most, many women don’t find physicians willing to listen.”

To make an appointment with a cardiologist who will listen and provide leading-edge heart care, please call 303-925-4055.
