

Facts You Need To Know About the Top 5 Cleanest Cities in Canada – Meta Description: Canada is known worldwide for its cleanliness. What are their methods and good management services?

The Top 5 Cleanest Cities in Canada

Canada is a very eco-friendly country. Its mayors and major cities are known to be very good at managing waste services. They also have many educational programs when it comes to keeping the environment clean. The five top cleanest cities in Canada are: Calgary, Montreal, Vancouver, Ottawa, and Toronto.

Calgary is well known because it has a great railway system. It also has a lot of natural resources. Their waste management program is in place to help out with the recyclable material that other people may not notice. The City Council created the Clean Calgary Association, and they have helped to have cleaning to be important in the hearts of the cities people. It is open for any resident to register and be a part of their educational workshops. Residents in Ottawa are encouraged to be eco-friendly, which is why the council in Ottawa puts 7 million dollars every year into keeping the city clean. They even encourage residents to skate to work instead of using their cars on the road during the winter time. They believe that by doing this the world will be cleaner.

In Montreal they have a program that focuses on reducing smog in the area. They encourage their residents to not ride their cars, and to keep their homes from using too much energy, by using a fluorescent lights. Using fluorescent lights can reduce chemicals that are toxic. In Vancouver, it is well known that many residents have gardens on the rooftop. They also consistently use public transport. The mayor of Vancouver, Greg Robinson tries to make sure that many people are involved in commuting and sharing cars. This way the city can remain the greenest city in the world.

In Toronto they put aside time every year to encourage businesses to go green. Canada in general manages waste well. Recently in 2010 there was action done in Toronto's industrial industry. It pushed Toronto's residents to be cautious when it comes to taking care of their waste. The industrial work that goes on in a city can impact the toxic levels of the city. It can also endanger the cleanliness of a city. Extensive training is given to residents so they can know how to keep their area as clean as possible. The Clean Canada Expo puts this city in the spotlight by praising them for managing waste in a proper manner.
