

Drive by Leaves: 5 Great Fall Driving Routes

Do you enjoy driving just to see the sights? Take a look at some of the best roads you can travel to see the beauty of fall!

The Blue Ridge Parkway- Begins in Nantahala National Forest in NC and ends near Charlottesville VA

The Blue Ridge Parkway is often called "America's Favorite Drive." You can see all that this beautiful drive has to offer at its website <http://www.blueridgeparkway.org/>

Oak Mountain State Park- Birmingham, AL

Oak Mountain offers tons of fun activities for the family in addition to its beautiful views! See all the park has to offer at http://www.stateparks.com/oak\_mountain.html

Natchez Trace- begins in Natchez, MS and ends in Nashville, TN

The Natchez Trace crosses through several cities, including Tupelo and Jackson, MS, and Columbia, TN. The 444 mile road has much to offer! Plan a visit here <https://www.nps.gov/natr/planyourvisit/maps.htm>

Cloudland Canyon State Park- Rising Fawn, GA

This state park provides several look outs and hiking opportunities through the valley of Lookout Mountain! You can plan a visit by going here <http://gastateparks.org/CloudlandCanyon>

Torreya State Park- Bristol, FL

You may not think of changing leaves in Florida, but it has them! Visit <https://www.floridastateparks.org/park/Torreya> for more information on the park