Dear Friend,

Thanks for your past business as a home remodeling client (or your request for a bid on your remodeling project). It's customers like you that have made Miller Remodeling a success for the last 35 years. I am glad I got the opportunity to meet you, and I hope that Miller Remodeling can serve you in the future.

Today, I'm thrilled to tell you about a new venture I've started with my wife, Laurie: TNL Cruises, LLC. Wait, how did that happen? A remodeling guy pulling double-duty as a travel agent? I'll tell you how.

Robert, a remodeling client of mine, came back from a cruise several years ago and told me all about it. He was so excited! After my wife and I did some research, we decided to take a cruise. Boy, oh boy, were we hooked:

- Feeling warm weather on your skin, even in the middle of a Colorado winter
- Eating delicious food, meal after meal
- Days unfolding before you, where you can do as much as or as little as you want
- Unpacking once but seeing many ports
- Experiencing different cultures and countries
- Meeting new, friendly people
- Being out on the water, and the sense of peace, calm, and relaxation that comes with it

Since then, I've taken 14 more cruises. I love to get away and feel like my time is my own. There is nothing like sitting on your own balcony—sipping a cool Caribbean drink and watching the blue sky—as the ship sails through turquoise waters.

Sounds wonderful, doesn't it? Let's book your cruise!

There are dozens of options for exotic and historic destinations, many for less than $600. Yes, affordability is one of the key factors that made me fall in love with cruising. You get a lot of bang for your vacation buck.

You might think all this travel means I'm never home. Nope. I'm just as dedicated to Miller Remodeling as I ever was. Kitchens, baths, and basements are my biggest projects. But did you know you can hire me on an hourly basis for all of your handyman projects, too? Whether you want to talk about your home projects or booking your next cruise, I look forward to speaking with you soon!

Sincerely,

Thomas J. Miller
