

About Me

I'm a passionate and experienced digital photographer currently based out of Phoenix, Arizona. I've been in the photography field professionally for ten years and have recently had work featured in articles for Dorkly, China Policy Institute, Fresh U, and more. Key competencies include several different photographic and design styles including; Portraiture, Architecture, Digital Restoration, Promotion and Marketing, Event Coverage, Wildlife/Pet Photography and Digital Art in both professional and personal settings.

I'm also a fervent animal welfare advocate and regularly volunteer at local animal shelters. One of my main goals in life is to find a way to blend my passions for animals and photography in such a way that brings light to animal welfare issues and disciplines me further as an artist and professional. When I'm not busy I can be found spending quality time with my four-legged friends at home.
