A LEEDS doctor has thrown her support behind a YEP-backed campaign to encourage people to become an organ donor - after celebrating her 35th anniversary of receiving a new kidney.

Dr Claire Corps, 47, a research scientist at St James's Hospital, said she would not be alive today had it not been for her kidney transplant and subsequent liver transplant 18 years ago.

She said the transplants gave her a new lease of life and inspired her into specialising in Clinical Immunology and Allergy and running trials at the hospital.

Claire, who has a PhD in Organ Preservation for Transplantation, regularly attends events such as the National Transplant Games to support others who are awaiting a transplant.

SUPPORT: Dr Claire Corps is supporting the campaign.

She said she spoke to a dad at one of the games who decided to donate his son's organs following a road accident.

Claire said: "I asked him whether it was a hard decision to donate his to make. He said

"I asked him whether it was a hard decision to make. He said no."

no. I asked him why and he said because as a child, he used to watch Blue Peter and they had a programme on about children who had transplants saying how wonderful the donors were.

"That inspired him to become a donor.

"The strange thing is, I was one of those children. This man flung his arms around me, hugged me and said thank you.

"He said that his son's life is over, but because of what I did, he can see his organs helping other people."

And she is calling on more people to support the YEP-backed Be A Hero organ donation campaign, run by Leeds Teaching Hospitals NHS Trust.

It comes after we revealed that just 29 Leeds families, and 114 in Yorkshire, donated organs last year as around 800 people wait for lifesaving transplants. Around three people nationally die every day waiting for a transplant.

Fix and Flex. No mortgage gives you more and asks for less.

We created our Fix and Flex mortgages to help people borrow well.

They give you the certainty of a rate that's fixed for a whole ten years.

But because we understand a lot can change in that time, they also give you the freedom to leave after five, should you want to.

On top of that they give you all the usual flexibility you'll find in a TSB mortgage.

They're not like other mortgages.

But then TSB is not like other banks.
