

Behavioral & Health Sciences

Gender diversity

Are you analytical and curious about human behavior? If so, consider pursuing your passion with a degree in gender diversity studies. Combine your interests with the proper education and start answering age-old, important questions for yourself and others.

General psychology

As a Ph.D program, the importance of research is strongly emphasized. NCU's coursework aims to develop students' abilities to understand, collect and analyze psychological research as well as to report findings in professional journals and meetings. The program emphasizes critical thinking, creative thinking and the ability to think from multiple perspectives . If you want to further your education then you might want to consider earning your general psychology Ph.D with NCU today.

Health psychology

NCU's Health Psychology program is devoted to understanding the scientific relations among psychological factors, behavior and physical health and illness. Take the first steps today and get more information about earning a degree in Health psychology.

Industrial Organizational Psychology

Our program in Industrial Organizational Psychology thoroughly covers the study of employees, workplaces, and organizations. Industrial and organizational psychologists contribute to an organization's success by improving the workplace and the performance, satisfaction and well-being of its people. An I/O psychologist researches and identifies how employee behaviors and attitudes can be improved through hiring practices, training programs, and feedback and management systems.

Mental Health Policy and Practice

The purpose of the Mental Health Policy and Practice specialization is to offer the motivated learner an opportunity to develop a serious edge in building their organizational skills and practice to market their behavioral health services well ahead of their competitors. The specialization includes a combination of highly focused and advanced training concepts in contemporary behavioral health. Earn a degree in mental health and practice with NCU today.

Marriage and Family Therapy PhD

Child and Adolescent Therapy

NCU's Child and Adolescent Therapy Ph.D program is devoted to teaching the effective cognitive-behavioral approaches for treating the most frequently encountered child and adolescent disorders. Topics include, aggression, anger, ADHD, depression, anxiety disorders, and developmental issues specific to working with adolescents. Take the first steps towards a brighter future with a Child and Adolescent Therapy Ph.D today.

Couple Therapy

The purpose of the program is to educate aspiring students about the dynamics of couples therapy. The program will cover methods in helping to restore a better level of functioning in couples who experience relationship distress. Student can learn about the major reasons for conflict in relationships and ways in which to smoothly facilitate each therapy session. Reach the next level in your education and earn your online couples therapy Ph.D with NCU today.

General Family Therapy

NCU's Ph.D program in General Family Therapy covers such topics as, relationship dynamics, psychotherapy, and systems of interaction between families. It emphasizes family relationships as an important factor in psychological health. Become an expert in general family therapy with an online Ph.D with NCU.

Medical Therapy

The Medical Therapy Ph.D program focuses on the practice of physical therapy, occupational therapy and medical therapy services for children who have handicapping conditions, generally due to neurological or musculoskeletal disorders. Students are exposed to the most up to date methods of medical therapy so take the first step and get more information about NCU's medical therapy Ph.D program today.

Therapy with Military Families

NCU's online Ph.D program in therapy with military families focuses on ideas of social support, separation preparedness, the return home, fears of abandonment, and forgotten intimacy. We believe that military families and their situations are unique and treatment should also be unique. Learn more about NCU's Ph.D. program focusing on therapy with military families today and take the next step towards a rewarding future.

Business and Technology Management

DBA

Advanced Accounting

The purpose of NCU's advanced accounting program is to provide in-depth and advanced knowledge of a range of topics, from auditing to income tax to research and communication. Further your education and learn more about NCU's advanced accounting program.

Security

NCU's security degree program offers the opportunity to study various aspects of security—from access control to terrorism. The program will also focus on fieldwork in the areas of executive protection and recovery, trade secret protection, background investigations, surveillance, IT security, and cyber-security. Learn more about this exciting field and take the first steps in earning your security degree with NCU.

Criminal Justice

NCU's program in criminal justice provides students with a sound knowledge base in the areas of U.S. law enforcement, criminology, investigations, law, and community relation. Earn your degree in criminal justice today, and take the first step toward a rewarding career.

Financial management

NCU's financial management DBA program attracts eager students with a passion for financial markets and a goal to launch their careers in the dynamic and increasingly global world of finance. Earn an online DBA in financial management and further your education with NCU today!

General Business

The business program DBA provides students sound knowledge and insight into the world of contemporary business management, where public pressure for corporations to address pressing social and environmental concerns is increasingly apparent. Learn more about NCU's DBA business program and take the first step toward a fulfilling future career.

Healthcare Administration

The health care DBA administration program offers the education and training necessary to work in a large variety of great jobs. Health care administrators work in the background in clinics, hospitals, doctors offices, nursing homes, and other facilities to make sure the funding, staff, and patient needs are met so the facility can run efficiently while providing the highest quality of care. Earn your healthcare administration degree through NCU and be on your way to a rewarding future.

Homeland Security Leadership and Policy

NCU's homeland security leadership and policy DBA program includes course work on such topics as domestic and international terrorism; diplomatic, technological, and intelligence approaches to national security. Be apart of of our nation's defense by earning your online DBA in homeland security leadership and policy today.

Human Resources Management

The curriculum of a NCU's human resource management program is designed to help students learn how to handle human resource challenges and issues. The program covers management strategies, workforce planning, employee rights, organization, training, recruiting, compensation systems, benefit programs and labor relations. Learn more about earning an online degree, and be on your way to a fulfilling and rewarding career.

Industrial Organizational psychology

As one of the fastest growing psychology specialties, students will learn to apply methods of psychology to issues of critical relevance to business and industry, including talent management, coaching, leadership development, program evaluation, training, organizational change, team building, and work-life balance. Earn your DBA in industrial organizational psychology through NCU, and take the first step towards a brighter future.

International Business

A career in International Business may be a good choice for you if you are interested in business or a particular aspect of the business field. If you enjoy travel and can be away from home often and/or for extended periods of time a degree in international business might be right for you. Learn more about NCU's international business program DBA, and be on your way to a rewarding career.

Management

NCU's management DBA program offers students general education that will prepare them for future leadership positions. Course work includes accounting, finance, human resources, communications, business law and marketing, among others. Earn your online DBA in management today and take control of your future.

Management Information systems

The Management information systems DBA program focuses mainly on IT principles, such as database management, logistics, personnel recruitment and customer service, to the operation of businesses. Students typically receive comprehensive instruction in such IT fundamentals as organizational analysis, technological development and organizational intelligence. Be apart of one of the fastest growing fields, and earn your degree in management information systems.

Management of Engineering and Technology

Students in the engineering management DBA program will learn about the technology involved in engineering projects and the management process through which the technology is applied. The objective of NCU's ME program is to provide a solid foundation in the areas commonly needed by managers who oversee engineers and engineering projects. In addition to industrial engineering expertise, students will gain valuable knowledge in areas such as organizational behavior, finance, and accounting. Learn more about a DBA in management of engineering and technology today and be one step closer to a brighter future.

Marketing

Marketing professionals are involved in planning, promoting, pricing, and distributing products and services. NCU's DBA marketing program is designed to give students a strong understanding of the marketing mix elements used by firms to satisfy customer wants and needs. Earn your online marketing degree today through NCU, and be one step closer to a brighter future.

Organizational Leadership

NCU's DBA program in organizational leadership teaches students the fundamentals of leadership and continues by teaching students valuable skills in interpersonal communication, small group communication, conflict management, intercultural communication, writing, and managing organizational change. Be the leader you have always wanted to be by earning your DBA in organizational leadership with NCU.

Project Management

The Project Management DBA program is designed to provide you with the theoretical concepts and practical skills you need to lead complex projects successfully, from initial planning, budgeting, and negotiations through project oversight and final evaluation. Earn your online DBA in project management with NCU.

Public Administration

Earning an online DBA in public administration from NCU provides an academic pathway for anyone pursuing a career in both government and non-governmental/non-profit organizations. Public administrators manage nearly every aspect of public service at the federal, state and local levels offering the opportunity to help shape the future through government units, in non-profit organizations or in other agencies or institutions. Be apart of something special, and earn your DBA in public administration today.

PhD

Advanced Accounting

The purpose of NCU's advanced accounting Ph.D program is to provide in-depth and advanced knowledge of a range of topics, from auditing to income tax to research and communication. Further your education and learn more about NCU's advanced accounting Ph.D. program.

Applied Computer Science

The goal of NCU's applied computer science Ph.D. program is to provide students with a strong foundation upon which they can continue to build as the field changes. Students can receive instruction in areas such as software design and project management, object-oriented programming, design of algorithms, operating systems, database management systems, neural networks, computer graphics, network programming, and more. Take the first step towards a brighter future and earn your Ph.D. in Applied Computer Science.

Computer and Information Security

As our world becomes increasingly digitized, it is ever more important that sensitive information be kept safe from outside intruders, while remaining accessible to the proper users. This is especially true for businesses whose livelihood depends on the data they store in computer-based systems. Help people stay protected with a Ph.D in computer and information security.

Criminal Justice

NCU's Ph.D program in criminal justice is designed to prepare students for a variety of entry-level positions in criminal justice and to provide them with knowledge of the causes of crime, as well as the workings of the criminal justice system (police, courts, and corrections) and law in society. NCU's Ph.D provides students with a sound knowledge base in the areas of U.S. law enforcement, criminology, investigations, law, and community relation.

Earn your Ph.D. in criminal justice today, and take the first step toward a rewarding career.

Financial Management

NCU's Ph.D financial management program attracts eager students with a passion for financial markets and a goal to launch their careers in the dynamic and increasingly global world of finance. Our program consists of advanced finance skills and integrates management competencies throughout the curriculum. Earn an online Ph.D. in financial management with NCU today!

Healthcare Administration

The Ph.D health administration program offers the education and training necessary to work in a large variety of great jobs. Health care administrators work in the background in clinics, hospitals, doctors offices, nursing homes, and other facilities to make sure the funding, staff, and patient needs are met so the facility can run efficiently while providing the highest quality of care. Earn your healthcare administration Ph.D through NCU and be on your way to a rewarding future career.

Homeland Security Leadership and Policy

NCU's homeland security leadership and policy Ph.D program includes course work on such topics as domestic and international terrorism; diplomatic, technological, and intelligence approaches to national security. Be apart of of our nation's defense by earning your online Ph.D today.

Human Resources Management

The curriculum of a NCU's human resource management Ph.D program is designed to help students learn how to handle human resource challenges and issues. The program covers management strategies, workforce planning, employee rights, organization, training, recruiting, compensation systems, benefit programs and labor relations. Learn more about earning an online Ph.D, and be on your way to a fulfilling and rewarding career.

Industrial organizational psychology

As one of the fastest growing psychology specialties, student will learn to apply methods of psychology to issues of critical relevance to business and industry, including talent management, coaching, leadership development, program evaluation, training, organizational change, team building, and work-life balance. Earn your Ph.D in industrial organizational psychology through NCU, and take the first step towards a brighter future.

International Business

A career in international business may be a good choice for you if you are interested in business or a particular aspect of the business field. If you enjoy travel and can be away from home often and/or for extended periods of time a degree in international business might be right for you. Learn more about NCU's international business Ph.D program, and be on your way to a rewarding career.

Management

NCU's management Ph.D program offers students general education that will prepare them for future leadership positions. Course work includes accounting, finance, human resources, communications, business law and marketing, among others. Earn your online Ph.D in management today and take control of your future.

Management Information systems

The management information systems Ph.D program focuses mainly on IT principles, such as database management, logistics, personnel recruitment and customer service, to the operation of businesses. Students typically receive comprehensive instruction in such IT fundamentals as organizational analysis, technological development and organizational intelligence. Be apart of one of the fastest growing fields, and earn your Ph.D in management information systems.

Management of Engineering and Technology

Students in the Ph.D engineering management program will learn about the technology involved in engineering projects and the management process through which the technology is applied. The objective of NCU's ME program is to provide a solid foundation in the areas commonly needed by managers who oversee engineers and engineering projects. In addition to industrial engineering expertise, students will gain valuable knowledge in areas such as organizational behavior, finance, and accounting. Learn more about a Ph.D in management of engineering and technology today and be one step closer to a brighter future.

Marketing

Marketing professionals are involved in planning, promoting, pricing, and distributing products and services. NCU's Ph.D marketing program is designed to give students a strong understanding of the marketing mix elements used by firms to satisfy customer wants and needs. Earn your online marketing Ph.D today through NCU, and be one step closer to a brighter future.

Organizational Leadership

NCU's Ph.D program in organizational leadership teaches students the fundamentals of leadership and continues by teaching students valuable skills in interpersonal communication, small group communication, conflict management, intercultural communication, writing, and managing organizational change. Be the leader you have always wanted to be by earning your Ph.D in organizational leadership through NCU.

Project Management

The project management Ph.D program is designed to provide you with the theoretical concepts and practical skills you need to lead complex projects successfully, from initial planning, budgeting, and negotiations through project oversight and final evaluation. Earn your online Ph.D in project management with NCU.

Education

EDD

Curriculum and Teaching

NCU's Ed.D program in curriculum and teaching adopts an interdisciplinary approach to teaching and learning, acknowledging the relationship among the learner, the learning, and the learning environment and the consequences this approach has for educational theory, policy, and practice. Take the first step towards a better future and earn your online Ed.D in curriculum and teaching.

Early Childhood Education

The early childhood education program provides students with the knowledge key to the development of young learners. Whether in elementary or high schools or in private or public schools, teachers provide the tools and the environment for their students to develop into responsible adults. Earn your degree in early childhood education, and make a difference with our nations youth.

Educational Leadership

NCU's Ed.D educational leadership program provide students with the tools to update and strengthen their abilities to guide the direction of academic institutions. This degree program provides instruction in leadership and personnel management, technology for education, academic policies, fundraising and curriculum development. Earn your Ed.D in educational leadership today, and be on your way to a better future.

English Second Language

As globalization has hit everything from industry to politics and communication, English has internationally become the language of choice. Since English is so useful and the most commonly-learned second language around the world, English as a second language teachers are in high demand. Earn your Ed.D today through NCU, and become the educator you have always wanted to be.

General Education

By earning Ed.D through NCU, you will learn the skills necessary to shape the future of education in your school, district, and community. The online Ed.D program at NCU offers specializations designed for experienced teachers and administrators who want to continue their practice while effecting positive change. Envision yourself in the career that you've always wanted. Take the steps to earn your Ed.D and stop dreaming of your perfect career.

Global Training and Development

NCU's Ed.D program focuses on the theoretical and practical information from the areas of organizational leadership, human resources, and adult education as well as a series of research courses in which strategies are changed, reviewed, and prioritized for future effectiveness. The specialization emphasizes systemic leadership and organizational capacity. Earn your Ed.D in global training and development today and create a brighter future.

Instructional Leadership

The Ed.D instructional leadership program aims to provide students with a solid background in all aspects of school operation. Topics covered include knowledge of national school laws, finance and regulations; knowledge of personnel management and staff development; knowledge of curriculum and instructional supervision; and the ability to integrate research and current trends into practice. Become the educator you have always wanted to be with a Ed.D in instructional leadership with NCU.

International Education

NCU's Ed.D program focuses on the educational practices and institutions within different societies and states in comparative perspective, and the study of international educational issues. We aim to teach in comparative research methods, country- or area-specific studies, cross national studies of learning and teaching styles, international educational policy and development, and analyses of educational migration patterns and experiences. Earn your Ed.D in international education and become the educator you have always wanted to be.

Leadership in Higher Education

The leadership in higher education program is oriented for aspiring professionals working in administrative positions in higher education institutions and for those seeking entry level positions in colleges and universities. The program stresses a basic foundation of study necessary to become effective administrators and leaders at colleges and universities. It consists of a set of integrated courses introducing students to higher education policy, organizational structures, administrative functions, and historical developments. Learn more and earn your Ed.D in leadership in higher education.

Organizational Leadership

NCU's program in organizational leadership teaches students the fundamentals of leadership and continues by teaching students valuable skills in interpersonal communication, small group communication, conflict management, intercultural communication, writing, and managing organizational change. Be the leader you have always wanted to be by earning your Ed.D in organizational leadership with NCU.

E- Learning

The Ed.D E-Learning program focuses on understanding the unique needs of online learners, developing courses to effectively teach, and tracking student's progress as they complete assignments and tests. With the accessibility and convenience of online learning more students are looking to complete degrees this way, so the need for effective instructors will also likely increase. Become the educator you have always wanted to be with an Ed.D in special education through NCU.

Sports Management

Our students will be learning both the theoretical foundations of sport management and the applied nature of the sport industry. The curriculum includes classes from a variety of disciplines, such as anatomy, physiology, sport management and society, sport promotion, sport law, sport operations management/event and venue management, financial aspects of sport, and sport facilities. Earn your Ed.D in sports management with NCU and begin a new rewarding career in the sports industry.

Special Education

Students entering the field of special education address the unique needs of students who have difficulty learning independently or in traditional classrooms. Special needs can include such areas as physical or developmental disabilities, emotional or behavioral disorders, communication challenges or cognitive difficulties in general. Earn your Ed.D in special education with NCU today.

Ph.D.

Curriculum and Teaching

NCU's Ph.D program in curriculum and teaching adopts an interdisciplinary approach to teaching and learning, acknowledging the relationship among the learner, the learning, and the learning environment and the consequences this approach has for educational theory, policy, and practice. Take the first step towards a better future and earn your online Ph.D. in curriculum and teaching.

Early Childhood Education

The early childhood education program provides students with the knowledge key to the development of young learners. Whether in elementary or high schools or in private or public schools, teachers provide the tools and the environment for their students to develop into responsible adults. Earn your Ph.D. in early childhood education, and make a difference with our nations youth.

Educational Leadership

NCU's Ph.D in educational leadership program provides students with the tools to update and strengthen their abilities to guide the direction of academic institutions. This degree program provides instruction in leadership and personnel management, technology for education, academic policies, fundraising and curriculum development. Earn your Ph.D. in educational leadership today, and be on your way to a better future.

E- Learning

The Ph.D E-Learning program focuses on understanding the unique needs of online learners, developing courses to effectively teach, and tracking student's progress as they complete assignments and tests. With the accessibility and convenience of online learning more students are looking to complete degrees this way, so the need for effective instructors will also likely increase. Become the educator you have always wanted to be with an Ph.D in special education through NCU.

English Second Language

As globalization has hit everything from industry to politics and communication, English has internationally become the language of choice. Since English is so useful and the most commonly-learned second language around the world, English as a second language teachers are in high demand. Earn your Ph.D. today through NCU, and become the educator you have always wanted to be.

General Education

By earning a Ph.D. in education through NCU, you will learn the skills necessary to shape the future of education in your school, district, and community. The online Ph.D. program at NCU offers specializations designed for experienced teachers and administrators who want to continue their practice while effecting positive change. Envision yourself in the career that you've always wanted. Take the steps to earn your Ph.D. and stop dreaming of your perfect career.

Global Training and Development

NCU's Ph. D. program focuses on the theoretical and practical information from the areas of organizational leadership, human resources, and adult education as well as a series of research courses in which strategies are changed, reviewed, and prioritized for future effectiveness. The specialization emphasizes systemic leadership and organizational capacity. Earn your Ph.D. in global training and development today and make a brighter future.

Instructional Leadership

The Ph.D. instructional leadership program aims to provide students with a solid background in all aspects of school operation including knowledge of national school laws, finance and regulations; knowledge of personnel management and staff development; knowledge of curriculum and instructional supervision; and the ability to integrate research and current trends into practice. Become the educator you have always wanted to be with a Ph.D in instructional leadership today with NCU.

International Education

NCU's Ph.D. program in international education focuses on the educational practices and institutions within different societies and states in comparative perspective, and the study of international educational issues. We aim to teach in comparative research methods, country- or area-specific studies, cross national studies of learning and teaching styles, international educational policy and development, and analyses of educational migration patterns and experiences. Earn your Ph.D. in international education and become the educator you have always wanted to be.

Leadership in Higher Education

The leadership in higher education program is oriented for aspiring professionals working in administrative positions in higher education institutions and for those seeking entry level positions in colleges and universities. The program stresses a basic foundation of study necessary to become effective administrators and leaders at colleges and universities. It consists of a set of integrated courses introducing students to higher education policy, organizational structures, administrative functions, and historical developments. Learn more and earn your Ph.D. in leadership in higher education.

Organizational Leadership

NCU's Ph.D. program in organizational leadership teaches students the fundamentals of leadership and continues by teaching students valuable skills in interpersonal communication, small group communication, conflict management, intercultural communication, writing, and managing organizational change. Be the leader you have always wanted to be by earning your Ph.D. in organizational leadership with NCU.