WEDDING BEST

Wedding season is officially under way, so if you have a host of events to attend, Rhea Dhanbhora & Shirley Mistry help you look your best, with wedding looks that will suit different weddings

FUSION FORWARD

If you're heading for a wedding that doesn't require you to be dressed in bling from head to toe, we've got the perfect look for you. An easy blend of ethnic and western wear, this is understated but chic. While women have begun to sport bandhgala with pencil and harem trousers — we suggest taking it a step further and teaming one with a skirt for a funky fusion look that screams sophistication. Just make sure you get one that is tailored to a woman's silhouette, so that your look is slimmed down instead of being bulked up.

OUR PICKS

While you can pick any simple, white skirt to help the mint colour stand out, we suggest this lace cut-out skirt from Code at Lifestyle. It will keep the look more appropriate for a wedding party.

Price ₹1,599

Newly launched website www.lincot.com, recently introduced a range of bandhgala jackets for women. We're so in love with this soft mint shade! The cloth buttons and band collar, along with the fashion forward colour make it a really trendy piece.

Price ₹2,490

Pair your bandhgala with a simple white top. If you want a layered look, pick something with sleeves. We love how the bandhgala looks on its own, so we've picked this simple white top from Rena Love, as only a hint of your neckline will be visible.

Price On request

A simple strappy heel will work best — match it to your jewellery instead of choosing mint or white. We suggest picking these gold-beige heels from Inc 5, available at www.jabong.com.

Price ₹1,690

Keep your jewellery simple, but don't ignore it. These gold and mint filigree earrings from www.forever21.com will do the trick perfectly.

Price ₹289

TOUCH OF TRADITION

For ceremonies leading up to the wedding, you want something that will let you move around easily and comfortably. For such occasions, it is best to pick light-weight salwar suits, as they won't hinder your mobility, are comfortable, and let's face it — dancing in a sari is a pain anyway! Pick one with some form of embellishment to tie in the wedding theme and accessorise simply.

OUR PICKS

Nothing is more comfortable and more wedding-ready than this salwar suit from the Rohit Bal Autumn Winter collection at BIBA. The gorgeous pumpkin shade and darker hue bodice make it one of our favourites.

Price ₹13,950

Forget heavy accessories, because the work on this outfit is good enough. Pick a statement ring like this one from www.tribebyamrapali.com instead.

Price ₹850

Pick low shoes for ease of movement, since sky-high heels will also ruin the look of this outfit. Try a darker shade, like this red one on these brocade shoes from www.jabong.com.

Price ₹1,099

GOWN READY

If you're going for a wedding where the dress code is a mix of Indian and western wear, the perfect in-between outfit is a gorgeous gown. It will leave you feeling red-carpet ready without overshadowing the bride. Pick a shade that complements your skin tone and keep accessories to a minimum if it has a lot of embellishment.

OUR PICKS

Pick a solid pair of shoes, where the heel and toe peek out and look great. Completely swathed in sparkle, these New Look heels from www.koovs.com should do the trick. Price ₹2,695

If you must accessorise, keep it minimal. We suggest a thin hand harness like this one from www.pipabella.com. Price ₹800

You can't wear white at some weddings or red and black at others. An easy thing to do is to stick to a soft shade. We love this close-to-skin, peachy pink gown from Falguni & Shane Peacock. Price On request

EXQUISITELY ETHNIC

If you want to go all out and stick to a traditional look, we have the perfect outfit for you. Whether you opt for this particular one or use it for inspiration, remember that the idea is to stand out, without upstaging the bride! So, keep your look simple and go easy on the accessories. A sari such as this one stands out because of its colour combination and the uber ethnic accessories finish it off beautifully.

OUR PICKS

Nothing says traditional more than this sari from www.limeroad.com – and we love that the colours make it versatile enough to wear at any age. The candy pink border makes it youthful, while the mustard shade keeps it sophisticated. Price ₹6,985

Your shoes will only peek out of your sari, so make sure that the straps are pretty and the heel is comfortable. These zari work, Lemon shoes from Shoppers Stop are a good pick. Price ₹1,899

Add a touch of colour blocking to this look with these gorgeous blue earrings from Hypercity. Price ₹599

BEACH WEDDING

If you've got to attend a beach wedding, want to make sure that you've got something that stands out, but not something that's over-the-top. After all, you don't want it interfering with the gorgeous beach setting. Pair a breezy dress with pretty, subtle shoes (heels if you're indoors but flats on the beach) and some funky jewellery for a simple but really striking look.

OUR PICKS

Accessorise your beach look with a simple pair of earrings such as this pair from www.pipabella.com. The unique shape and structure of the drops make them eye-catching. Price ₹850

If you're picking heels, we suggest these Carlton London pumps, available at www.limeroad.com. The embellished shoes will look gorgeous on either dress. Price ₹5,995

Keep accessories simple by picking stud earrings. Add a little bling with these bracelets from www.forever21.com. Price ₹609

If it's a really casual do, pick a short dress. We love this turquoise and white skater dress from www.limeroad.com. Price ₹1,499

For added comfort, ditch your heels and pick a pair of simple flats. We love this braided pair from Steve Madden. The metallic tone of these shoes will add just the right amount of sparkle to your look. Price ₹3,999

For a gorgeous, beach-ready wedding look, we're big fans of this Trendy Diva maxi dress. The pretty sea-foam shade, coupled with bodice detailing, makes it light but still very wedding-worthy. Price ₹7,999
