

SCENE STEALERS

Earls Kitchen + Bar

This September, Massachusetts is welcoming its second Earls Kitchen + Bar to the culinary scene. Located in the Prudential Center, the timing couldn't be better. As autumn approaches, so does the drive for heart-warming and creatively conceived meals. The three-story restaurant includes a cocktail bar, a 300-seat dining room and a cozy rooftop terrace. Plan an evening in line with the layout: an after work aperitif before taking a seat inside for one of Earls' globally-inspired plates and dessert or a final cocktail below the stars.

The menu has been designed to reflect the diversity and fast-paced nature of Boston's Back Bay. A scratch kitchen, a new feature for the restaurant group, uses ingredients that are locally sourced and favored by Northeasterners. And armed with a completely local bar staff and craft cocktail program, putting a spin longtime favorites, the edge will be taken off the dropping temperatures.

What lies at the core of Earls is family. That atmosphere has been captured in each of its 66 locations, and will bring that same sense to its place in the Prudential. Detail is important, and individuality shines, making it an "unchained chain." Artwork specifically created for the restaurant lines the walls: downstairs, brightly painted posters showcase the bands that have made an appearance here; upstairs, the city's striking features (Converse, the Citgo sign and the Zakim bridge) are whimsically collaged. Say hello to your new local haunt.

For all of life's hectic days, Earls Kitchen + Bar makes it simple. earls.ca

Photographed by Melissa Ostrow

Credo

Clean beauty is headed our way. This October, Credo is opening its first Boston store, nestling itself into the brownstones of Newbury Street and making huge bounds within 800-square feet. It's sure to be your next obsession.

Fitness and wellness play an important role in many Bostonians' lives. Most of us want to take care of ourselves wholly and healthfully, which includes beauty regimens. Enter Credo, whose approach for this latest beauty concept is simple: conscientiousness of application. They sell over 100 eco-friendly brands using natural, organic products found internationally, curating products you'll never need to worry about putting on.

Knowledge is power with Credo. Take advantage of their clean swap, bringing in your own products to find a similar item of eco-conscious status. Their website even offers a list of "Dirty Ingredients to Ditch."

Beyond brands, Credo offers in-store makeup application, mini facials and brow and eyelash services. Looking and feeling good never was so easy! credobeauty.com

