Add whimsy to your wardrobe with spring's most majestic hue

By Carmen Boeser

It has been called the color of royalty, and there is no doubt that Pantone's official color of the year, Radiant Orchid will reign supreme in 2014! A gorgeous combination of fuchsia, purple, and pink, this enigmatic color is in full bloom on the runway and the Red Carpet. Although Radiant Orchid's dazzling warmth is flattering on most skin tones, this modern hue encourages originality. Whether you want to stand out in an orchid outfit or show just a hint of your charm with purple accessories, we found some pieces that will give your style a captivating update for spring:
