

GRACE COLLEGE WOMEN'S BAKSETBALL LOSES TO MARIAN UNIVERSITY

By Sid Elford

Grace's Women's Basketball team battled but ultimately was not able to capture the win against fifth seeded Marian on Wednesday, January 10, 2017, losing 69-60. The ladies battled throughout the entire game but were unable to gain the upper hand.

The Lady Lancers were lead by points from junior, Brooke Sugg, and sophomore Vironnica Drake in the first half, where the Lancers scored 27 points to Marian's 31. The Lancers were lead again by Vironnica Drake and sophomore, Micaela Box in the second half of play but fell just short of Marian's 38 points, as they could only muster 33.

The Lady Lancers will continue their Crossroads league conference games over the rest of the course of January and February, taking on Indiana Wesleyan University, Taylor University, and Mount Vernon Nazarene University in their next three conference games. They will conclude their Crossroads league season after a final game with Taylor University on February 17, 2018 at the Manahan Orthopaedic Capital Centre.
